Whether you are an amateur or professional artist, this studio offers you the opportunity to practice drawing the endless angles and subtle values of the human form. You will work with experienced male and female models as they express tasteful, classical poses. The timed poses begin with 1 to 5 minute warm up sketches and gradually extend to 15, 30, 45 and sometimes 1 hour when time allows.

Open studio sessions are led by Julie Suchanek, a Gonzaga University graduate with a B.A. in fine art. Julie will provide constructive guidance to artists that request it and the friendly environment of the studio encourages artists to share tips and techniques in a collaborative setting.

Suggested Supplies:

What you bring for supplies will depend upon your preference of medium and materials to work quickly and be effective. Some options may include newsprint and drawing paper, watercolor paper, sketch books, stretched canvas or canvas panels. Artists are free to work with mediums such as charcoal, graphite, markers, pastel, color pencil, acrylic paint, oil paint, etc.

Please remember to bring a drawing board, bulldog clips and easel as only a limited supply of these is available.
